'It's Punkie Night Tonight'

Laurina Deacon

A punkie or punky is a lantern which was traditionally carved from a mangold or mangelwurzel, but where did the custom originate? No one knows, but it is almost certainly linked with Hallowe'en and here in the West Country the tradition of Punkie Night was practised on the last Thursday in October, as in Hinton St George where the tradition of children marching around the village with carved jack o'lanterns still takes place. Another theory is that it goes back to the days when wives made their husbands a jack o'lantern for lighting their way home in the dark on their return from Chiselborough Fair. The tradition was for children to march around the villages singing,

*It's Punkie Night tonight,
It's Punkie Night tonight,
Adam and Eve would not believe
It's Punkie Night tonight.*

Or, in what appears to be an earlier version of 'Trick or Treat' children went from door to door begging for candles singing,

*Give me a candle, give me a light,
If you don't, you'll get a fright.
Give me a candle give me light,
If you haven't a candle, a penny's all right.*

The custom now is to use a pumpkin, which is a lot easier to carve than a mangelwurzel and if, as in earlier times, it is placed on the gate post it will supposedly ward off evil spirits at this time of year!

HALLOWE'EN

When bats are grooming their silky fur and owls unveiling their eyes,
Large things take flight; small things take cover;
They'll all be glad when this long night is over
And the sun comes again to the skies.

Deep in the forest where no-one goes the witches are lying in wait,
Bats hear their call; owls fly to greet them;
Creepy things, crawly things, steal out to meet them.
(It is not a good thing to be late).

Wise folk are sleeping at Hallowe'en, no soul is abroad to-night.
All locked away, safe in their dwellings.
Dance your mad dance, cast all your spellings.
You'll be gone with the coming of light

Morning sun breaks through the misty dawn, larks trill a happy refrain.
Mortals awake! Witches have vanished.
Creepy things, crawly things, daylight has banished.
All is well with the world once again.

CRiB AGM

Our AGM has been rescheduled - the meeting will now be held on Monday 8th October in the Chatham Room in the Village Hall at 7.30pm. Everyone is welcome, come and hear about our efforts this year and our plans for next year and share your ideas. Refreshments provided.

South West in Bloom awards ceremony takes place at the new Westlands Centre in Yeovil on Thursday 4th October. As soon as we have any results we hope to put the news straight onto the village website! We hope you have seen the War Memorial lately, it really does look amazing and is still flowering well. Let's hope it lasts until November 11th, frosts permitting.

Poppies for Remembrance Day - knitted and home made

We are hoping to have hand knitted poppies and poppies made from plastic bottles on display around the village. To make a plastic poppy, cut any plastic bottle in half using scissors, then cut down to the base in four equal divisions, some bottles have a base with four dips in them so use those a guide. Shape the petals, adjusting the length and flatten out your poppy, pressing the centre and petals into shape. Paint with red gloss paint, paint the middle black or glue on a black button. Use florist's or gardening wire to make a stem or staple to an orchid stick. There is a good pattern at www.harlow.gov.uk search for knitting pattern info sheet. You can search on line for other free patterns or ask Gina to provide a copy for you. If anyone has any suitable wool they would like to donate please let us know. A large red and black ball of wool for only £3.50 can be purchased at Mrs McGregor's wool shop in Somerton. Let's hope for a great display of poppies in the village leading to the war memorial. If you have knitted or made poppies you would like to be included in our poppy trail please contact Gina cribsomerset@gmail.com tel 01458 762296

The Royal British Legion Great Pilgrimage 90

Peter A. Hayes

Having just returned, along with Mick Brett of Fivehead, from the Great Pilgrimage, held in Belgium and France between the 5 – 9 August I would firstly like to say how extremely proud and honoured I feel at being able to represent the Royal British Legion Branch of Curry Rivel, Drayton and Fivehead and secondly to honour and remember those brave lads from these villages and all the other service men who sacrificed their lives for our today.

It was a phenomenal experience standing on the ground where they once stood and really brought home the horrors and privations and above all the bravery and sacrifice they made.

GP90 represents the ninetieth anniversary of the Pilgrimage made in 1928, ten years after the First World War ended, where the British Legion took some 11,000 veterans and war widows, back to the Ypres and Somme areas. GP90 revisited the same places they did.

It is virtually impossible to convey to others the visual and emotional pictures I encountered on the Pilgrimage. One sees pictures and reads in books and accounts of the conditions and fighting that took place and the numbers involved, but nothing comes close to the humbling feelings one gets on visiting and getting one's feet on the ground!

The culmination of the Pilgrimage was, as in 1928, a Memorial service held at the Menin Gate Ypres. Over 1,100 Royal British Legion Branch Standards together with an equivalent number of poppy wreaths from those branches were paraded through the streets of Ypres to the Menin Gate, where a ceremony was conducted during which more than 1,100 poppy wreaths were laid inside the Gate.

Mick and I are ex-regular soldiers, I can't speak for Mick but this experience has greatly affected me emotionally, which has only strengthened the feeling of sadness and pride I hold for those gallant young men who gave their all so that we could enjoy the life we have.

Having now visited the battlefields myself and been a regular soldier I can fully appreciate why so many of the soldiers who fought there could not or would not speak of their experiences, it was too painful.

I would also like to thank all the people and organisations from around the villages whose endeavours and financial support helped us to be able to make this memorable pilgrimage.

Thank you one and all and God Bless.

A spectacular two-mile march through Ypres to the Commonwealth War Grave Commission's Menin Gate Memorial, led by 1,100 Standard Bearers, was the culmination of the three-day event, which saw the 2,200 participants visit the First World War trenches, battlefields and cemeteries at Passchendaele, Tyne Cot and the Somme.

Probus Club of Langport and Curry Rivel

Dorothy Wadeson

We had an excellent Summer Lunch with our husbands/wives/partners/friends in August at Hornsbury Mill near Chard. Our speaker in September came from the Dorset and Somerset Air Ambulance, who rely on our charitable donations to keep them in the air. We were interested to hear about night flying which is the latest development in this wonderful service.

In October we are planning a trip to Shepton Mallet Prison. Let's hope we all return!

If you ever want to keep ahead of what is happening in South Somerset then subscribe to www.southsomerset.gov.uk/ssn which will update you on everything from the Regeneration programmes taking place in Chard, Yeovil and Wincanton, the Yeovil Literary Festival, Waste and Recycling, Playdays and Health Walks in the area, Westlands and Octagon news to the latest award winning activities of SSDC. You can also follow SSDC on social media on a variety of platforms including twitter and facebook.

The Medium Term Financial Plan has been presented. Despite the decrease in Central Government funding the leading party remains confident that ambitious programmes such as Transformation, making staff savings without cutting services, and their Commercial Strategy, buying properties as assets in Yeovil High Street such as Marks and Spencer and Wilko for investments will in the long term deliver a sustainable council.

The Langport to Muchelney Cycleway has taken a step closer to being transferred from SSDC to local Town and Parish Council management. A survey has recently been undertaken and shows that the cycleway is increasingly being used by locals and visitors. The cycleway is part of the River Parrett Trail and if transferred the new management have said it will be essential to keep the track open and well maintained at all times of the year.

Curry Rivel Music

KOSMOS ENSEMBLE

Regular concert-goers in Curry Rivel are accustomed to hearing flights of brilliance from artistes clearly destined for stardom but whose fees make them still affordable. However, the concert in September hit stratospheric heights. The Kosmos Ensemble excelled. While composers like Dvorak and others have shown what can be done with the folk tradition, Kosmos have nothing to learn from them. Their ingenious and inventive arrangements and variation of music from around the world including wild gypsy themes, emotive Jewish and Greek tunes, wild tango along with Japanese, Polish and Sephardic songs were executed with extraordinary brilliance on violin, by Harriet MacKenzie, on viola by Meg Hamilton and by Miloš Milivojević on accordion. The music soared with unimaginable speed and bravura leaving the audience as elated and exhausted as the three virtuosi were entitled to feel. It was sheer, unforgettable brilliance on an evening to remember.

The next concert will take place at 7.00 pm on Saturday 13th October. After the novelty of the accordion in the initial concert, CRM will celebrate another first with the saxophone at centre stage. Its master is Jonathan Radford who is sponsored by the Countess of Munster Musical Trust which supports only the most able musicians at an early stage of their career. Jonathan has, in fact, a glittering CV already and will be accompanied on the piano by Kaoli Ono whose career, passed mainly in France and Japan, has been no less sparkling. Their programme will include music by Debussy, Rachmaninov, Greig and Gershwin. Tickets are £12 at the door. Students and children come free of charge. For further information please contact our Secretary, Mrs Anne Michell: telephone 01458 250863, email anne.michell@btinternet.com or visit our website www.curryrivelmusic.org

Movies in the Village Hall

mvh.curry.wix.com/films

The Happy Prince (15)

Friday 19 October

Actor Rupert Everett fulfils a long-standing ambition to make a film about the last days of Oscar Wilde. As well as playing the central character he also wrote and directed the movie.

This hitherto untold story tells of the Irish poet and playwright's tragic times as he observes his own failure and regards the difficulties that beset his life with detachment and humour. Beautifully photographed, the film has an all-star cast with some of our finest actors. It also has a great deal of comedy and wit.

Also stars: Colin Firth, Emily Watson, Colin Morgan, Tom Wilkinson & Anna Chancellor.

Doors open at 7.00pm; show starts at 7.30pm in the village hall. Refreshments are on sale. Tickets £7 are available at the door. Don't forget we have our annual ticket for only £50 – saving you £20.

Langport and Somerton Inner Wheel

Dorothy Wadeson

The Langport branch does not have a meeting in August but we met up at our stall at the Drayton Street Fair in September to advertise the existence of Inner Wheel, which is a worldwide organisation with clubs in virtually every town area. The organisation exists with the aim of friendship, working together to make a difference both at home and around the world and we support local communities, local, national and international charities and generally have fun and enjoy ourselves. Drayton Fair had to suffer our "Roll a Penny" (in our case 10p) game which was quite good fun especially as more children than adults won and which covered our costs so thank you to one and all. We also had some articles made from ring pulls by people in the Philippines supported by the charity Protecting Children and Families which drew a lot of attention and a few sales.

Don't forget, we meet at the Langport Arms 2nd Monday each month at 12 noon so if you are interested in finding out more ladies, please ring Angie on 01935 840130.

The Monmouth Rebellion 1685

The Society's first meeting after the summer break was an illustrated talk by John Allen on one of the most important events in West Country history, the Monmouth Rebellion of 1685, culminating in the Battle of Sedgemoor and its tragic aftermath locally.

John began with a summary of the life of James, Duke of Monmouth in the context of the turbulent political and religious climate of late 17th century England. He was the illegitimate son of Charles II, born in Rotterdam on 9 April 1649. Because of fears for his personal safety in this period before the 1660 Restoration, he was moved around the Continent and England.

When Charles was restored to the English throne in 1660, there was no legitimate heir, provoking various claims including that of the Protestant, James, and the Catholic Duke of York, the King's brother. Young James was brought to court in 1662, rapidly granted titles, including Duke of Monmouth, and was married the following year to a Scottish heiress, Anna Scott. He took up a military career and fought in the Dutch Wars.

As the constitutional enmity over the succession grew between Monmouth and York, breaking out in episodes such as in the Popish Plot and Rye House Plot, Monmouth bolstered his popularity by various trip around England, especially in the West Country, gaining support from local notables and the general citizenry alike, though for much of this time he was effectively exiled in Europe.

By the time York became King as James II in February 1685 on Charles's sudden death, there was seething rebellion in both Scotland and English against a Catholic monarch. Monmouth landed at Lyme Regis on 11 June, and marched northwards gathering troops and supplies. After a convoluted progress which failed to produce any decisive outcome, his army eventually met the King's forces outside Westonzoyland on 5-6 June, in what is known as the Battle of Sedgemoor.

John described the various strategies and manoeuvres of the two opposing forces, leading to the rout of Monmouth's army, and then set out the terrible consequences for the West Country as the King took revenge on the rebels. Most famously this was done through the notorious 'Bloody Assizes' under the Chief Justice, George Jeffreys. Monmouth himself was captured, and beheaded at the Tower on 15 July, it taking 5 strokes to achieve the execution!

John concluded his presentation by regaling the audience with various myths and legends surrounding the Monmouth Rebellion.

The Society's next meeting will be at Langport Library on Monday 1 October, when Joseph Lewis of SSDC's Community Heritage Access Centre (CHAC) will talk about Langport in the 1980s. This will be followed by the Society's AGM. It is free to members (annual membership from September is £15): non-members are welcome, admission £4. Anyone interested in joining the History Society should contact Sue Standen (01458 273471, suzannestanden471@btinternet.com). ## Scott's spot

Faith ... a crutch for the weak?

Having my hair cut a while ago, I found myself 'talking faith'. As we talked it became apparent that my barber's view on faith, and those who professed it, was that it was effectively a 'crutch for the weak'. He seemed surprised that my personal faith journey hadn't involved some sort of major life trauma, and was seemingly convinced that faith came from the place of all else having been tried, and all else having failed. In short, a position of last resort. Perhaps you, or those you know, hold a similar view.

Now while I would want to challenge my friend's somewhat patronising assessment, holding instead that the Bible makes sense of the world around us, that faith in Jesus is intellectually defensible, and that publicly standing for Christ amongst our secular culture takes more courage not less, I would agree that acts of faith do often need a catalyst. Despite my objection to the above, it is true that acts of faith aren't usually born out of peace and calm. The Bible is full of examples of this. For example in the book of Exodus it wasn't military know-how that made Moses raise his staff on the bank of the Red Sea. He did it because he was between an army and an ocean. For Naaman, the leprous military commander, it wasn't medical research that convinced him to dip seven times in the river (see 2 Kings Chapter 5), it was because he was a very sick man.

Scott's spot ctd...

Neither was it common sense that caused the Apostle Paul to abandon the Jewish laws he'd followed his whole life and follow Jesus. He couldn't see any other way. And it wasn't a bold group of Christians who prayed in Jerusalem for Peter's release from prison (see Acts 12). It was an uncertain and vulnerable band of backed-into-a-corner believers with no other choice. A group of have-nots begging for help. Situations each leading to intervention and partnership beyond all expectation.

So although I do not agree with my barber's opinion that faith is the preserve of the weak, in a way he wasn't far from the truth. For at the beginning of every act of faith, there is often a seed of fear.

The message of the Bible is that, once opened, the door of faith leads to previously undreamt of divine resources – courage, strength and comfort amongst the maelstrom of life. Perhaps recent events mean that you're now ready to taste and see?

Faith, a crutch for the weak? Well not quite. Rather a step of the humble brave.

With blessings and prayer for you and those you love,

Revd. Scott Patterson.

Royal British Legion Coffee Morning

Georgina Morrisroe (left) and Brenda Swann sample the coffee and cakes.

An inaugural coffee morning to raise funds for the Royal British Legion raised just over £60.

Organized by Sue Willis, the coffee morning was held in the Old School Room on Wednesday 12 September 2018. There was a competition to 'Guess the Weight of the Cake', which was 1.55 kg, and was won by Sheila Harding.

Sue said "This was fun to organize and I am very grateful to Suzie Potter for helping me bake all these cakes. It was just a pity that it was not better supported." Brenda Swann, who assisted with the organization of the morning, including the sale of second-hand books, said "Those cakes were delicious. People don't know what they missed!"
